

more than 16 °C above average in some areas and high daily maximum temperature records were set at sites in all States and the Northern Territory.

- Spring 2019 was Australia's second warmest spring on record for mean maximum temperature.

- Trends towards a lengthened fire weather season have already been seen in some areas of the country, with the fire weather season typically starting earlier in the year.

Formatted: Bcopy2, No bullets or numbering